Protecting Steel for Generations

Benefits of Hot-Dip Galvanizing

Ideal For Hawaii's Demanding Environment

Hawaii's diverse, yet highly corrosive environment of ocean-salt exposure, high humidity, rain and trade winds creates a high demand for corrosion protection.

For over 160 years, Hot-Dip Galvanizing has been recognized worldwide as the most effective, cost-efficient method of corrosion protection for steel products.

State-Of-The-Art Galvanizing Plant

Our kettle is 27 feet long, 6 feet deep, 4 feet wide. It can accommodate a wide variety of steel products including structural steel, rebar, gates, fencing, trailers, tanks & more. Our experienced galvanizing team's goal is to provide the highest quality of Hot-Dip Galvanizing and service to our valued customers.

Superior Long-Term Protection

Protection against corrosion begins on the drawing board. Architects and engineers recognize galvanizing as a superior way of preserving and maximizing steel protection.

Hot-Dip Galvanizing provides both barrier and cathodic protection over the entire steel surface with a tough, durable, abrasion-resistant finish that will continue to protect against corrosion even if scratched or gouged.

Costs Less / Lasts Longer

Hot-Dip Galvanizing outperforms any other method of corrosion protection. It is virtually maintenance free over the service life of the steel, and provides tremendous cost savings in repairs, maintenance, and replacement costs.
